UM JAZZ WORKSHOP TO PERFORM

MISSOULA--

The first concert of the season by the University of Montana Jazz Workshop will be Saturday, Nov. 6, at 8 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom. Admission is free for students and $1 for the general public.

Two bands will be featured. They will perform arrangements of the works of well-known jazz artists including Stan Kenton and Buddy Rich. The groups are directed by trombonist Lance Boyd, associate professor at the UM and director of Jazz Studies. The concert is sponsored by ASUM Programming.

In January the Jazz Workshop will sponsor an annual high school jazz festival at which Don Menza, jazz tenor saxophonist and composer, will adjudicate and perform. Artists-in-Residence Dartanyan Brown and Marcia Miget will also be on campus in January and February. This will be the third year of residency for Brown and Miget who work with students in jazz classes as well as dancers, artists and dramatists on campus. Their residency is funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts.

In April the number one band of the Jazz Workshop will travel to a jazz festival at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley.
